

Experiential form of learning is the only way to transform and bring about lasting change in individuals and teams. I work with select clients, who expect nothing but the best, and have a burning desire to achieve their extraordinary dreams.

Quest Outbounds provides high end interventions to help corporates develop new age leadership, high performing teams and a culture of trust and creativity. Using universal values which are timeless and simple, all workshops and sessions aim to help participants and organisations discover their True North.

My mission is to facilitate people in discovering their potentials and actualising it through disciplined effort. All success and change is the direct result of the commitment of the participants to grow and keep experimenting in their journey towards their purpose and dreams.
